

Tribal Content in the California Water Plan

1. Please COMPLETE by July 26, 2012

The California Water Plan is seeking your input on developing Tribal content for Update 2013. A draft document was created to show where Tribal discussions are (or could be) located, using the outline from the last update. Please reference this outline when thinking about the survey questions - the document is available online at:

www.waterplan.water.ca.gov/docs/meeting_materials/tribal/2012.03.22/WorkingLunch-Content.pdf

Your feedback will be especially helpful in describing Tribal water-related conditions in the "Regional Reports." Each Regional Report tells the water story for California's 12 hydrologic regions and areas of interest. The regional boundaries are mapped and can be downloaded at: www.waterplan.water.ca.gov/docs/maps/regions.pdf

Tribal perspectives are an essential component of describing regional conditions. An example of the Update 2009 write-up on Tribal content, for the North Coast region, is posted on the Water Plan website at:

http://www.waterplan.water.ca.gov/docs/meeting_materials/tribal/2012.03.22/3-NC-Tribal-info.pdf

The survey questions here are provided to help generate thinking about different aspects of Tribal water. We would appreciate your input and assistance in generating Tribal content for Update 2013. While the survey is oriented towards content for the Regional Reports, please include any content suggestions, references or sample text that you feel is important – regardless of where it may fit in the structure of the Water Plan.

We look forward to working with you to inform others of Tribal water perspectives, in the words of Tribal interests themselves. If you have questions or need additional information, please contact Judie Talbot at or 775-720-0214.

YOU MAY START AND LEAVE THIS SURVEY AT ANYTIME AND RETURN TO YOUR ANSWERS LATER, AS LONG AS YOU USE THE SAME COMPUTER. YOU MAY ALSO SKIP THE SURVEY AND HAVE SOMEONE CALL YOU IF YOU PREFER. YOU WILL BE GIVEN THAT CHOICE IN THE SECOND QUESTION.
